Invitation

On behalf of the Organising Committee of the 52nd International Field Emission Symposium which will be held in Australia from 5-8 July 2010, I am pleased to invite you to be a part of this significant event by way of participating as a Sponsor.

The Symposium comes to Australia for the very first time and will be held at the Crowne Plaza, Coogee Beach. With the theme of 'Unlocking the Nanoworld' the Symposium will provide Delegates with an opportunity to reunite with friends and acquaintances, and of course meet new colleagues from within the industry.

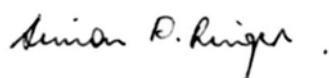

As we strive for understanding of the world around us, high-field nanoscience and atom probe microscopy provide vital tools and devices that hold promise for new technologies to help meet the global challenges ahead. The Symposium offers the opportunity for your organisation to participate as a Sponsor at an event where delegates will learn, share and contribute to this continuing understanding.

An inspiring scientific program will include plenary sessions, the IFES Bloch Lecture, E.W. Müller Award, international keynote lectures, parallel sessions, a poster session and a pre-symposium workshop.

IFES 2010 will foster the exchange of ideas and create a stimulating environment in which to collaborate with like-minded colleagues and to learn from experts in the field. Join us for exciting social activities, which will include a Symposium dinner on spectacular Sydney Harbour.

Various levels of sponsorship involvement are outlined in this document, however if there are any other ways in which you would like to participate, the Symposium Managers would be very happy to consider your suggestions and discuss these with you.

We look forward to the opportunity of welcoming your organisation as one of our valued Sponsorship partners and commend you to consider the valuable contribution you can make towards our efforts in continuing to understand and meet the global challenges ahead.

Prof. Simon P. Ringer

Symposium Chair

*Director, Australian Key Centre for Microscopy and Microanalysis

The Symposium

The 52nd International Field Emission Symposium (IFES 2010) is an international biennial symposium, supported by the long-standing International Field Emission Society.

IFES 2010 will promote the latest advancements in atom probe tomography, high-field nanoscience and related scientific endeavours. These traditional fields of study have continued to push the boundaries of nano scale imaging and coupled spectroscopic characterisation, creating overlaps and stimulating interest in other scientific fields such as, e.g. advanced electron microscopy and laser–matter interactions, amongst others. The scope of IFES for 2010 has hence been broadened to be inclusive of such aspects and to promote further cross-disciplinary scientific interaction.

This is an opportunity for organisations that supply research facilities and commercial enterprises to strengthen existing relationships and create new and valuable contacts within this dynamic and constantly evolving arm of nanoscience.

The Program

The following is an outline of proposed session topics:

- Atom Probe Tomography
- High Field Nanoscience
- Field Electron Emission
- Field Ion Microscopy
- Materials Characterization at the Nanoscale, including steels, alloys, semiconductors, thin films and more
- Laser-Matter Interactions
- Catalytic Reactions
- Visualization and Data Mining of 3D Data
- Focused Ion Beam and other advanced specimen preparation techniques
- Atomic Simulations
- Correlative Approaches to Microscopy

Confirmed Plenary and Invited Lectures

We are proud to announce the following have accepted the invitation to attend the symposium as Plenary and Invited Speakers *:

Plenary

- Professor Werner Hofer, University of Liverpool, United Kingdom
- Professor David Joy, University of Tennessee, United States of America
- Professor Hans Juergen-Kreuzer, Dalhousie University, Canada (Plenary & Invited Speaker)
- Dr Thierry Visart de Bocarme, Université Libre de Bruxelles, Belgium
- Professor Qi-Kun Xue, Tsinghua University, China

Invited

- Dr Baptiste Gault, University of Oxford, United Kingdom
- Dr Emmanuelle Marquis, University of Oxford, United Kingdom
- Professor Stephen Pennycook, Oak Ridge National Laboratory, United States of America
- Dr Ty Prosa, Imago
- Dr David Saxey, University of Oxford, United Kingdom
- Associate Professor Robert Scholten, University of Melbourne, Australia
- Dr Francois Vurpillot, Université de Rouen, France

 Please note: these are confirmed as at time of writing.*

The Venue & City

Known as 'Sydney's Seaside Village' Coogee Beach is just a few kilometers from the centre of Sydney. Located opposite the beach, Crowne Plaza Coogee Beach offers panoramic views of the Pacific Ocean. The hotel offers modern, up-to-date rooms in a beautiful beachside location.

Coogee is surrounded by one of the East Coast's most breathtaking beaches and headlands and embraces a relaxed, casual setting. For delegate pre or post Symposia activities, its location makes it convenient to play a round of golf at one of the many courses nearby, do a little shopping, watch the cricket at the Sydney Cricket Ground or catch a football game at The Sydney Football Stadium.

The hotel has two restaurants and two bars, all offering stunning ocean views.

All the above features making this the perfect venue and location for IFES 2010.

Benefits to Sponsors

IFES 2010 will provide many long lasting benefits including:

- Maximum exposure at a premier event which is devoted to the scientific exchange of recent practice, innovation and research
- High visibility on the official IFES 2010 website and IFES 2010 marketing materials
- A chance to present your initiatives and product development strategies
- Provides opportunity for eye-to-eye marketing
- Strengthening brand awareness
- Promoting and advertising the latest industrial research and development innovations
- Educating the market
- Continuing support for scientific research in this burgeoning area of nanoscience and cutting-edge nano-characterisation
- Building prospect databases

Who should support IFES 2010?

IFES 2010 will provide a unique environment dedicated to the exchange of best practice innovation and research.

Aligning your organisation with the Symposium will provide you with the opportunity to consolidate relationships and provide exposure to key target markets. Organisations within the following sectors should consider alignment with this event:

- Atom Probe and Field Ion Microscope manufacturers
- Industries requiring accurate nano-scale metrology and development of modern nano-scale technologies such as advanced alloys, catalytic devices and field emitters
- Suppliers of Focussed Ion Beam Microscopes and Ion Microprobes
- Suppliers of Helium Ion and Field Emission Electron Microscopes, including peripheral advanced spectroscopy equipment
- Suppliers of related equipment including Nano Cat Scanners, CCD Cameras, Imaging Filters and Time of Flight Mass Spectrometers
- Universities and Colleges
- Related Government departments
- Publishing houses

We see sponsors as partners with whom we can create a beneficial working relationship, which continues well beyond the Symposium providing a synergistic and constructive alliance with the International Field Emission Society and your organisation.

Marketing and Public Relations

The IFES 2010 Symposium Managers are here to ensure you receive the most from your investment. We encourage you to contact our Sponsorship and Exhibitions Department to discuss the many additional ways we can further assist your marketing efforts and build your business through IFES 2010.

IFES 2010 offers a unique opportunity to increase your company's exposure to a diverse cross-section of industry professionals through the following marketing strategy:

- E-marketing – including regular email blasts promoting program updates, key dates and featured speakers
- Marketing collateral – including flyers to be used at industry events to stimulate interest and provide key details
- Website – will be used as the main information distribution channel and, as such, will be regularly refreshed with the latest updates

Sponsorship packages and commitment levels vary and can be tailored to suit your marketing strategies. Whatever your business, the IFES 2010 Symposium has a Sponsorship package that will help you meet your brand and networking objectives.
